

NA (PRO) SP 63/85/37
Grey to the Privy Council, 12 September 1581

Address and Endorsement

To the right Honorable the Lords and others of her Highness privie Councell./

Lords

12 September 1581
From the Lord Deputy on the behalfe of mr Parker.*

Text

It may please your Lordships This gentleman Mr Parker, was appointed by his vncler Sir William Pelham in the time of his gouernemente, to haue the garde of the Castle of Asketin in Mounster, wherein he continued till now of late that with my allowaunce, yt was comytted to Capten Barkelye, vpon some speciall causes, that moued this bearer, to surrender his charge, and to departe into Englande, And like as while he had the charge of the peece, he did preserve yt, according to the truste comytted, notwithstanding that yt was often attempted by the rebelles, and in greate perill to haue bene surprised, if yt had not bene manfully defended So because that service, and other of his good demeanures are groundes* of good hope of his farther desertes heereafter, the rather because¹⁰ in so smale experience before his Coming hether, he hathe shewed so muche valuer, I am to intreate your Lordships to take knowlege of this his good beginninges, and to make reporte of yt to hir maiestye to his farther Credyt, as occacon may serve, And so I leaue him to your Lordships fauours: At Dublyn the xijth of September 1581

Yowr Lordships most assured to Commaund,

Arthur Grey

¶ Note on hands The text of the letter is written in a regular secretary hand (not Spenser's). The subscription and signature are in Grey's own hand, while the address is clearly Spenser's characteristically bold secretary. The endorsement, like the false endorsement (see below), is in a later hand, presumably added when the letter was being filed in Westminster.

* Endorsement] A second endorsement appears on the back of the letter, but is apparently the beginning of a mistaken precis by the secretary charged with filing the letters in Westminster. It reads, 'lords 12 September 1581 From Sir William Pelham'.

¶ * 10 groundes] As in other letters written in this hand, the scribe has here added a terminal 'es' brevigraph after the 'e'--in effect, writing 'groundees'. As this inconsistency is a relatively common feature of the hand, we have chosen here, as elsewhere, to interpret the combination of 'e' plus brevigraph as equivalent to the brevigraph on its own, and have represented both by terminal 'es'.
